the remains of Drayer made the following statement:

"Drayer's skull was fractured. Some contend that it was done by his falling on the pavement and others that it was the result of being kicked after being down. I won't state positively how it was done, because I could not determine that from the examination. At any rate, the fracture caused a rupture of an artery, allowing the blood to escape into the brain substance, t rming a clot of blood, which resulted in his death.

"The blow was landed on the left side of the man's head, a little behind his ear. There are two marks and two fractures, either of them would probably have proven fatal. He had the thinnest skull that I ever saw. A very little blow could have caused the fracture."

Trades and Labor Council met last evening in Brotherhood hall, but owing to the bad weather the attendance was not large. The session was quite an interesting one, and much business was discussed ..

The matter of building or securing a Labor Temple for this city was probably the most important taken up. This matter was first brought to the attention of the council by William Cope, and it was reviewed in several ways. The subject has been under the consideration of the council before, and at one time a committee was appointed to look further into the matter, but when the old organization died this committee passed out of existence.

It is proposed to have a temple in which all labor organizations of the city shall have a working interest until such times as the building is paid for, after which it is to be under the charge of the several committees appointed for that purpose. The matter was referred to the next meeting of council when it is stated that a committee will be appointed to gather statistics bearing upon the subject and report at a later meeting.

FOR THIS CITY

The Subject Again Brought Up For Discussion at Trades Council Meeting.

THE PLAN OF OPERATION

Another Committee Likely to Be Appointed to Inquire Into the Question -Italians Found in Potteries-An Investigation to Be Made.

Trades and Labor Council met last evening in Brotherhood hall, but owing to the bad weather the attendance was not large. The session was quite an interesting one, and much business was discussed ..

The matter of building or securing a Labor Temple for this city was probably the most important taken up. This matter was first brought to the attention of the council by William Cope, and it was reviewed in several ways. The subject has been under the consideration of the council before, and at one time a committee was appointed to look further into the matter, but when the old organization died this committee passed out of existence.

It is proposed to have a temple in which all labor organizations of the city shall have a working interest until such times as the building is paid for, after which it is to be under the charge of the several committees appointed for that purpose. The matter was referred to the next meeting of council when it is stated that a committee will be appointed to gather statistics bearing upon the subject and report at a later meeting.

Owing to the fact that Secretary Robert Buchanan proposed to leave the city he resigned his position in the council last evening and John Reark, a delegate from local No. 72, was appointed in his place. He proposes to locate at Lisbon.

The resignation of Trustee John Reark was accepted and in his place U. G. King, of Typographical Union No. 316, was appointed to fill the unexpired term.

Even President McConnell was absent from the session, something that to the position, and owing to this fact

William Moore presided. Another matter which was considered of vital importance, dicussed at this session, was the fact that a number of Italians have been found working in several of the local potteries. A committee was appointed to investigate this matter and make a report at the next session.

It will be remembered that at the last session of the council charges were preferred against a prominent union man for having some work done about his home by a person not affiliated with a labor organization. A committee was appointed at that session to investigate the charges ,and this committee made a report last evening, which exonerated the union man from all charges, and an apology was extended to the gentleman.

CRIES OF MURDER HEARD

Not for many weeks was there so much excitement in the East End district as was heard on Virginia avenue, at a late hour last evening. Cries of "murder and police" aroused the neighborhood at a late hour, but the East End authorities refuse to confirm the report or admit that they made an investigation of the affair. From reports heard of the matter it seems that the mother of two children has been in the habit of coming home rather late at night, and when she arrived at her home last evening her husband was watching and waiting, and what he is said to have done was a plenty. Such scenes have been of rather frequent occurrence and all sorts of rumors of family troubles have been circulated.

THE APACHES ARE AROUSED

Trouble if Their Supplies Are Shut Off.

Washington, June 19.-The war de partment has transmitted to the interior department information that trouble is threatened among the Apache Indians on the San Carlos reservation, in Arizma, on account of the proposed shutting off of beef and other rations after July 1.

The action of the war department is based on reports received from General Funston, commanding the department of Arizona, saving that the Indians are very much agitated over the proposed action of the government, and predicting that in case the rations are discontinued the Indians will take beef and other supplies wherever they can get them in that section, regardless of consequences. Governor Murphy, of Arizona, is in the city, and has received advices along the same line.

As a result of these reports it is understood that the interior department will suspend the order of discontinuance of the rations pending an iavestigation.

His Sentence Commuted to Imprisonment For Life-Mrs. Kahney Signed Application.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 19 .-- The death sentence of R. D. Wilcox, alias Walter Dorman, was yesterday commuted to life imprisonment by the board of pardons on the recommendation of the authorities of Allegheny county. Wilcox was the accomplice of John and Edward Biddle, who escaped from the Pittsburg jail last spring with the assistance of the warden's wife, Mrs. Catharine Soffel.

The Biddles and Mrs. Soffel were cvertaken by a posse of detectives the day after their escape and both men died afterwards of wounds received. The woman was badly wounded by being shot in the breast, but recovered, and recently pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. One report was that the two men suicided, one shooting the woman. Another report was that the officers shot them.

Mrs. Kahney, the widow of a grocer at Mount Washington, for whose murder the Biddles and Wilcox were convicted, joined in the application for the commutation. Wilcox turned state's evidence against the Biddles. and the Allegheny authorities claimed that without this testimony none of the murderers would have been con-Dressing a Hog.

It is told of the late P. D. Armour that on one occasion he made a present of a suit of clothes to each of his employees in a certain department. Each man was told that he might order his own suit and send the bill to Mr. Armour, no restrictions being made as to price. In order to avail himself fully of this liberality one young man ordered evening clothes costing $80. When the bill was sent in, Mr. Armour sent for the clerk to vouch for its accuracy and, finding it right, assured the man it would be paid. As the clerk was leaving, however, Mr. Armour said

At a time when electricity is rapidly transforming the face of the globe, when it has already in great measure annihilated distance and bids fair to abolish darkness for us, it is curious to notice how completely ignorant "the plain man" remains as to the later derecent correspondence has led me to think that a vague notion that electricity is a fluid which in some mysterious way flows through a telegraph wire like water through a pipe is about as far as he has got, and if we add to this some knowledge of what he calls "elechaust his ideas on the subject. Yet this is not to be wondered at. Even the most instructed physicists can do nothing but guess as to what electricity is, and the only point on which they agree is as to what it is not. There is, in fact, a perfect consensus of opinion among scientific writers that it is not a fluid-i. e., a continuous stream of ponderable matter, as is a liquid or a gas-and that it is not a form of energy, as is heat. Outside this limit the scientific imagination is at liberty to roam where it listeth, and, although it has used this liberty to a considerable extent, no definite result has followed up to the present time .-

Rinehart Bros. have objected to men laying pipes on the streets they are paving, for the reason that in laying brick over the ditches the pavement will sink and make a bad looking job. Rinehart Bros. did not know of this action and stopped Shannon when he proceeded to ditch on Kelly avenue. The mayor, city solicitor, water works superintendent, two policemen, several councilmen and the contractors held a heated discussion, but Shannon was permitted to lay the pipes, an amicable adjustment being made. Prior to the arrival of the police a double row of Italians was lined up for a battle, but there was no bloodshed.

A SERMON TO SUIT.

The Folks Who Paid For the Discourse Got What They Wanted.

Many Maine people who live in a certain part of Cumberland county will well remember one Abner-so he was always called in his town. Abner was the wit of the village, and he was commonly selected to take charge of funerals because he was about the only man in town who had time hanging on his hands. A citizen died, man who never amounted to much, who was never positively wicked, because that would have required more of an effort than he was willing to make. He was, however, far enough from being a good citizen, and Abner knew it as well as anybody else.

Abner was requested to ask a certain minister to conduct the service, and he hitched up his old horse and drove to his house. The minister said he would attend and then tried to get a little information concerning the late lament

"What sort of a man was he?" he asked.

"Well, about the same as no sort of a man at all," replied Abner frankly. "I suppose his loss will be deeply felt in the community?" said the minit," said Abner slowly. "Was he a Christian?" asked the minister. "If he'd been accused of it, the verthe jury wouldn't have left their seats," replied Apper cheeriully. "Did he attend church?" asked the minister a bit anxiously.

"I never heard of his doing it," said Abner. "How did he die?" continued the minister.

"Just the same as he lived, sort of naturally," said Abner. "I don't see how I'm to preach much of a sermon under such circumstances," said the minister. "The neighbors all said they didn't think they wanted much of a sermon, and so they seat me over to see you,'

said Abner. The minister pocketed his wrath and a five dollar bill, and after the funeral the satisfied Abner said, "Well, we got just what we wanted, b'gosh."-Lewis ton Journal.

A SERMON TO SUIT.

The Folks Who Paid For the Discourse Got What They Wanted.

Many Maine people who live in a certain part of Cumberland county will well remember one Abner-so he was always called in his town. Abner was the wit of the village, and he was commonly selected to take charge of funerals because he was about the only man in town who had time hanging on his hands. A citizen died, man who never amounted to much, who was never positively wicked, because that would have required more of an effort than he was willing to make. He was, however, far enough from being a good citizen, and Abner knew it as well as anybody else.

Abner was requested to ask a certain minister to conduct the service, and he hitched up his old horse and drove to his house. The minister said he would attend and then tried to get a little information concerning the late lament

"What sort of a man was he?" he asked.

"Well, about the same as no sort of a man at all," replied Abner frankly. "I suppose his loss will be deeply felt in the community?" said the min-

"If he'd been accused of it, the verdict would have been not guilty and the jury wouldn't have left their seats," replied Abner cheerfully. "Did he attend church?" asked the minister a bit anxiously. "How did he die?" continued the minister. "Just the same as he lived, sort of naturally," said Abner. "I don't see how I'm to preach much of a sermon under such circumstances," said the minister. "The neighbors all said they didn't think they wanted much of a sermon, and so they sent me over to see you."

said Abner. The minister pocketed his wrath and a five dollar bill, and after the funeral the satisfied Abner said, "Well, we got just what we wanted, b'gosh."-Lewis ton Journal.

Labor Cause Humilitated by Riotous Foreigners, at Paterson, N. J.

NUMBER OF PERSONS INJURED.

Policeman, Several Rioters and Re-Shot. Latter Probably Fatally-Others May Have Been Hurt-Number struck With Stones.

Paterson, N. J., June 19 .- This city was in the hands of a mob yesterday and as a result of the riots a number of persons were shot and two at least fully treated will die.

The police did their work well, but they were so few in number that they could make little headway against the Brob. Mills were wrecked with stones and bullets by the striking silk dyers' telpers or roughs acting for them. There were threats to resort to the torch, but so far last night the mayor hesitated about asking Governor Murphy for troops.

Indication Riots Were Planned. There seemed to be every indication that the riot was the result of a rearranged plan to involve the would-be peaceful element in the af fair from the start. Among the leaders of the trouble was a man named McQueen and another named Galleano, the former an Englishman and the latter an Italian. Others, agents of anarchist circles, had also been quietly fanning the flames.

Yesterday morning Chairman Mc-Grath, who has held the strikers in leash since he first obtained control on the second day of the strike, was on hand and presided. He spoke; so did McQueen and Galleano, and the latter worked his countrymen into a frenzy.

Then McQueen leaped into control of the meeting. He called for a vote on the question of calling for a general strike of all branches of the silk trade. All voted in favor and a committee was appointed to consider means for bringing the silk workers out. Galleano was one of this committee. It gathered amid a babel of tongues and a scene of confusion. Five minutes latter Galleano emerged from th group shouting something in Italian. Instantly a mob had formed about him. Into it rushed the Italtans and then the other foreigners, and a moment later the mob, led by Galleano, started on its raid.

dresci's Comrades Among Rioters. Among the rioters were several old comrades of Bresci, who was executed for killing King Humbert, of Italy.

Employes were driven from mills in some instances, while in others employers turned them out to avoid trouble. Mills were bombarded with bricks, etc.

One plant raided was a cotton braid factory, the employes being told to quit by their employers.

Several persons and a number of officers were struck with stones.

Policeman Robertson was shot through the right arm and he was hit in the head, near one mill. Policeman Post shot a rioter in the neck, near another mill.

At the Hall mill a policeman shot Lora Salvino, 24 years old, an Italian, who lives and works at Hacken sack. He was shot in both lungs. The policeman continued to fire and the mob returned the shots. Finally he was joined by other officers. Firing continued on both sides. Spec tators said fully 100 shots were fired. It was believed other rioters were hurt. Details of firemen were cailed upon later and helped the police.

Mob Formed Again. It was not longe before a dense mob had formed again, this time about the Gaede mill, on Straight street, where there was a crowd of 2,000. Half of them were rioters and the rest onlookers. The mill was bombarded and before the mob stopped there was not a whole fin-dow in the building.

Harry Harris, a reported on The Morning Call, was armed with a revolver and had a camera. His act of training the camera was seen and he was warned to desist. A moment inter a rain of stones fell about him and he was knocked down. As he fell men rushed on him and he was kicked and beaten. He drew his revolver and tried to use it, but it jammed and was kicked from his hands. A man grabbed it and fired chest. He has a slight chance of recovery. By this time the mill was emptied of the operatives and this practically ended the ricting for the day, after all of the mills had closed cown.

Labor Cause Humilitated by Riotous Foreigners, at Paterson, N. J.

NUMBER OF PERSONS INJURED.

Policeman, Several Rioters and Re-Probably Shot. Latter Fatally-Others May Have Been Hurt-Number struck With Stones.

Paterson, N. J., June 19 .- This city was in the hands of a mob yesterday and as a result of the riots a number of persons were shot and two at least will die.

The police did their work well, but they were so few in number that they could make little headway against the

Mills were wrecked with stones and bullets by the striking silk dyers' telpers or roughs acting for them. There were threats to resort to the torch, but so far last night the mayor hesitated about asking Governor Murphy for troops.

Indication Riots Were Planned.

There seemed to be every indication that the riot was the result of a trearranged plan to involve the would-be peaceful element in the af fair from the start. Among the leaders of the trouble was a man named McQueen and another named Galleano, the former an Englishman and the latter an Italian. Others, agents of anarchist circles, had also been quietly fanning the flames.

Yesterday morning Chairman Mc-Crath, who has held the strikers in leash since he first obtained control on the second day of the strike, was on hand and presided. He spoke; 89 did McQueen and Galleano, and the latter worked his countrymen into a

Then McQueen leaped into control of the meeting. He called for a vote on the question of calling for a general strike of all branches of the silk trade. All voted in favor and a committee was appointed to consider means for bringing the silk workers out. Galleano was one of this committee. It gathered amid a babel of tongues and a scene of confusion. Five minutes later Galleano emerged from th group shouting something in Italian. Instantly a mob had formed about him. Into it rushed the Italfans and then the other foreigners, and a moment later the mob, led by Galleano, started on its raid.

dresci's Comrades Among Rioters. Among the rioters were several old comrades of Bresci, who was executed for killing King Humbert, of Italy.

Employes were driven from mills in some instances, while in others employers turned them out to avoid trouble. Mills were bombarded with bricks, etc.

One plant raided was a cotton braid factory, the employes being told to quit by their employers.

Several persons and a number of officers were struck with stones. Policeman Robertson was shot through the right arm and he was hit in the head, near one mill. Policeman Post shot a rioter in the neck, near another mill.

At the Hall mill a policeman shot Lora Salvino, 24 years old, an Italian, who lives and works at Hacken sack. He was shot in both lungs. The policeman continued to fire and the mob returned the shots. Finally he was joined by other officers. Firing continued on both sides. Spectators said fully 100 shots were fired. It was believed other rioters were hurt. Details of firemen were cailed upon later and helped the police. Mob Formed Again.

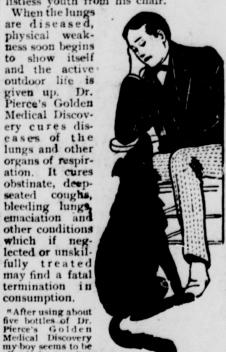

It was not longe before a dense mob had formed again, this time about the Gaede mill, on Straight street, where there was a crowd of 2,000. Half of them were rioters and the rest onlookers. The mill was bombarded and before the mob stopped there was not a whole findow in the building.

Harry Harris, a reported on The Morning Call, was armed with a rewolver and had a camera. His act of training the camera was seen and he was warned to desist. A moment leter a rain of stones fell about him and he was knocked down. As he fell men rushed on him and he was kicked and beaten. He drew his revolver and tried to use it, but it jammed and was kicked from his hands. A man grabbed it and fired chest. He has a slight chance of recovery. By this time the mill was emptied of the operatives and this practically ended the ricting for the day, after all of the mills had closed Cown.

the press team predicted. The clerks hard ones. His speed helped him wonwere game and tried hard enough, but fell before the artists of the craft in amazement. They were simply outclassed. Not one of the team can be censured for the humiliating defeat, as every man was at his post and took advantage of all that came his way, but the trouble seemed to lie in the fact that only a few came their waythey all went wide of the marks, especially was this so when Bullock landed one in very close proximity to Peterson's flower beds. The crowa of fans present stood aghast when the ball started on its heavenly tour. They didn't know when it was ever going to drop. The clerks really never did get the lick. They were a little downhearted beforehand, but when Wagner was seen running at his best and then to stop to make a charge similar to a bird dog on a quail, only to stay stopped, for the simple reason that he had gone on the wrong trail, the whole team gave up and Bullock was not the only disheartener for the clerks.

There were others who landed without mercy on the sphere. Martindale cracked it out twice for two bases. He could easily have made three bases or home runs of them, but rather than to have the clerks quit he stopped for a rest on second. His sensational catches behind the bat also had a bad effect on the tape holders. Not a ball did he allow to go through his mits. Without a breast protector he stood there and pulled them in. It made not the least difference to him where they were sent. High ones and low ones received the same attention. Martindale is an old timer from Zanesville and he plays the same game that has for years given the Zanesville boys an undisputed record.

Steinfeld, on third for the clerks, was great. He took advantage of every ball that went within three feet of him. He was one of the few men that got a putout on third. Manager Walsh would do well if he would consider the advisability of signing him.

Dawson is said to be a wonder behind the bat, but he forgot to demonstrate the fact. In the future he will do better, he says.

Lewis and Ansley tried upon several occasions to make a grand stand double, but they got mixed on every attempt and finally cut it ought by coming together on a little foul tip. These boys had been practicing for two weeks before the game, but it seems that they forgot the signs when they entered the diamond.

Fuller may make his mark yet in the base ball world. He jumped after all of them. That is after all of them had gone past. No work for several years is given as his excuse for the wild leaps.

The outfield was made up of pretty good material. It was composed of Sutton, Huss and Wagner. They are at Rock Springs park yesterday after tax last year was $16.64, while under each excellent runners. This they proved when pop flies were sent in their direction. The greatest drawback was misjudgment. Huss says that the sun was in his eyes and Sutton stated that the sky was entirely too blue, and Wagner had no excuse to offer other than that the press boys were not satisfied to knock the ball at a less distance than the flower pots.

The man from Canton, Blunt by name, was there with the goods. The field and lit on the right of the foul press aggregation realized that in the first innning and bought all he had in stock. He did not have a whole dozen for sale, running out when the eleventh was bought for two bases. In the sixth inning he was put out of the game, being hit on the head by a swift "inshoot" thrown by Such. He was not seriously hurt, however, and the game proceeded with Steinfeld in the

Simms at first for the press aggregation did remarkably well at every opportunity. In catching foul balls he has few equals and no betters. The way in which he slapped the high ones was the cause of much encoring.

Smith showed his early training on the diamond by several marvelous plays. At one time he saw the ball coming directly at him and to avoid opposing its terrible speed he jump-Among the Fans-An Exhibition did great work, never thinking of

When it comes to running Harris has them all bested. Over the field like a greyhound he sped and suc-It resulted exactly as every man on ceeded in pouncing on two extremely derfully in gaining bases also. By this achievement he scored a run when it would not have been possi ble for any other man on the team to make more than second base.

McBane and Faulkner didn't have many chances in the field, but they certainly accepted all that came their way. Faulkner has a good eye and never makes a misjudgment. McBane has played many times before East Liverpool fans, and his good record is well known.

Just why the clerks could not become accustomed to the curves thrown by Such is not known. The general supposition is that he learned the trick when a resident of Harris burg, Pa. Ráttlesnakes were at his command in profusion. The clerks simply stood and watched them circle past. Two hits and two runs also were Eclipse 0 0 1 0 0 0 2 0 0credited to him, and in fact he was the Homestead 0 0 0 0 1 3 0 0 *--4 whole push. The score:

London, June 19 .- It was officially canounced yesterday that in view of the strain of the approaching coronation King Edward's physicians have recommended that his majesty ferego all public engagements for the next few days. London, June 19 .- After being almost hermetically closed to the public and press for two months, Westminster abbey in its coronation dress was described in yesterday's London Times, commencing with the artificial annex, which, externally, blends se perfectly in color and architecture with the old structure as to deceive the experienced eye. The correspondents say the abbey inside has the appearance of a vast hall, with a timbered roof supported on square pillars and carved arches.

Procession to Form There.

Here the procession will be formed up. On the walls are costly tapestries and a magnificent collection of eld armor and lances from the Tower. The stands in the abbey itself, the erection of which caused some disapproval, are so placed that the architectural beauty of the ancient building is by no means marred. They are draped with a mixture of delicate blue and old gold velvet. On either side, near the west end, are priceless tapestries, lent by the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, and a thick, dark blue carpet has been laid down. It was specially manufactured for the occasion and is ornamented with the Star and Garter, the Rose, Thistle and Shamrock, and the Egyptian Letus wreathed in laurel. The transepts are filled with seats to the south for the peeresses and to the north with seats for peers. Above them are two great galleries for the members of the house of commons and their wives. The peeresses' chairs are of the Chippendale pattern ard are ample enough to make the most portly duchess comfortable. All the chairs are engraved with the crown and the date of the corona-

the press team predicted. The clerks were game and tried hard enough, but fell before the artists of the craft in amazement. They were simply outclassed. Not one of the team can be censured for the humiliating defeat, as every man was at his post and took advantage of all that came his way, but the trouble seemed to lie in the fact that only a few came their waythey all went wide of the marks, especially was this so when Bullock landed one in very close proximity to Peterson's flower beds. The crown of fans present stood aghast when the ball started on its heavenly tour. They didn't know when it was ever going to drop. The clerks really never did get the lick. They were a little downhearted beforehand, but when Wagner was seen running at his best and then to stop to make a charge similar to a bird dog on a quail, only to stay stopped, for the simple reason that he had gone on the wrong trail the whole team gave up and Bullock was not the only disheartener for the clerks.

There were others who landed without mercy on the sphere. Martindale cracked it out twice for two bases. He could easily have made three bases or home runs of them, but rather than to have the clerks quit he stopped for a rest on second. His sensational catches behind the bat also had a bad effect on the tape holders. Not a ball did he allow to go through his mits. Without a breast protector he stood there and pulled them in. It made not the least difference to him where they were sent. High ones and low ones received the same attention. Martindale is an old timer from Zanesville and he plays the same game that has for years given the Zanesville boys an undisputed record.

Steinfeld, on third for the clerks. was great. He took advantage of every ball that went within three feet of him. He was one of the few men that would do well if he would consider the advisability of signing him.

Dawson is said to be a wonder behind the bat, but he forgot to demonstrate the fact. In the future he will do better, he says.

Lewis and Ansley tried upon several occasions to make a grand stand double, but they got mixed on every attempt and finally cut it ought by coming together on a little foul tip. These boys had been practicing for two weeks before the game, but it seems that they forgot the signs when they entered the diamond.

Fuller may make his mark yet in the base ball world. He jumped after all of them. That is after all of them had gone past. No work for several years is given as his excuse for the wild leaps.

The outfield was made up of pretty good material. It was composed of proved when pop flies were sent in their direction. The greatest drawback was misjudgment. Huss says that the sun was in his eyes and Suttoo blue, and Wagner had no excuse to offer other than that the press boys were not satisfied to knock the ball at a less distance than the flower pots.

The man from Canton, Blunt by name, was there with the goods. The field and lit on the right of the foul press aggregation realized that in the first innning and bought all he had in stock. He did not have a whole dozen for sale, running out when the eleventh was bought for two bases. In the sixth inning he was put out of the game, being hit on the head by a swift "inshoot" thrown by Such. He was not seriously hurt, however, and the game proceeded with Steinfeld in the

Simms at first for the press aggregation did remarkably well at every opportunity. In catching foul balls he has few equals and no betters. The way in which he slapped the high ones was the cause of much encoring.

Smith showed his early training on the diamond by several marvelous plays. At one time he saw the ball coming directly at him and to avoid opposing its terrible speed he jumped into the air and with a wild whoop said, "Let 'er go." With the stick he Among the Fans-An Exhibition did great work, never thinking of

When it comes to running Harris has them all bested. Over the field like a greyhound he sped and suc-It resulted exactly as every man on ceeded in pouncing on two extremely hard ones. His speed helpeu him wonderfully in gaining bases also. By this achievement he scored a run when it would not have been possi ble for any other man on the team to make more than second base.

McBane and Faulkner didn't have many chances in the field, but they certainly accepted all that came their way. Faulkner has a good eye and never makes a misjudgment. McBane has played many times before East Liverpool fans, and his good record is well known.

Just why the clerks could not become accustomed to the curves thrown by Such is not known. The general supposition is that he learned the trick when a resident of Harris. burg, Pa. Ráttlesnakes were at his command in profusion. The clerks simply stood and watched them circle past. Two hits and two runs also were credited to him, and in fact he was the whole push. The score:

FORECO PUBLIC ENCACEMENTS

For the Next Few Days Recommended-Westminster Abbey, In Coronation Dress, Described In London Times-Evidence of Good Taste.

London, June 19 .- It was officially canounced yesterday that in view of the strain of the approaching coronation King Edward's physicians have recommended that his majesty ferego all public engagements for the next few days.

London, June 19 .- After being almost hermetically closed to the public and press for two months, Westminster abbey in its coronation dress was described in yesterday's London Times, commencing with the artificial annex, which, externally, blends se perfectly in color and architecture with the cld structure as to deceive the experienced eye. The correspondents say the abbey inside has the appearance of a vast hall, with a timbered roof supported on square pillars and carved arches.

Procession to Form There.

Here the procession will be formed up. On the walls are costly tapestries and a magnificent collection of eld armor and lances from the Tower. The stands in the abbey itself, the erection of which caused some disapproval, are so placed that the architectural beauty of the ancient building is by no means marred. They are draped with a mixture of delicate blue and old gold velvet. On either side, near the west end, are priceless tapestries, lent by the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, and a thick, dark blue carpet has been laid down. It was specially manufactured for the occasion and is ornamented with the Star and Garter, the Rose, Thistle and Shamrock, and the Egyptian Letus wreathed in laurel. The transepts are filled with seats to the stuth for the peeresses and to the north with seats for peers. Above them are two great galleries for the members of the house of commons and their wives. The peeresses' chairs are of the Chippendale pattern and are ample enough to make the most portly duchess comfortable. All the chairs are engraved with the crown and the date of the corona-

For the rehearsals an ordinary carpet and two draped arm chairs have sufficed. Throughout there is evidence of good taste and the arrangements have approached such a stage of completion that there i.; no doubt that everything will be perfectly ready today week.

LABOR TEMPLE FOR THIS CITY

The Subject Again Brought Up For Discussion at Trades Council Meeting.

THE PLAN OF OPERATION

Another Committee Likely to Be Appointed to Inquire Into the Question -Italians Found in Potteries-An Investigation to Be Made.

Trades and Labor Council met last evening in Brotherhood hall, but owing to the bad weather the attendance was not large. The session was quite an interesting one, and much business was discussed ..

The matter of building or securing a Labor Temple for this city was probably the most important taken up. This matter was first brought to the attention of the council by William Cope, and it was reviewed in several ways. The subject has been under the consideration of the council before, and at one time a committee was appointed to look further into the matter, but when the old organization died this committee passed out of existence. It is proposed to have a temple in which all labor organizations of the city shall have a working interest until such times as the building is paid for, after which it is to be under the charge of the several committees appointed for that purpose. The matter was referred to the next meeting of council when it is stated that a committee will be appointed to gather statistics bearing upon the subject and report at a later meeting.

Owing to the fact that Secretary Robert Buchanan proposed to leave the city he resigned his position in the council last evening and John Reark, a delegate from local No. 12, was appointed in his place. He proposes to locate at Lisbon.

The resignation of Trustee John Reark was accepted and in his place U. G. King, of Typographical Union No. 316, was appointed to fill the unex-

It will be remembered that at the last session of the council charges were preferred against a prominent union man for having some work done about his home by a person not affiliated with a labor organization. A committee was appointed at that session to investigate the charges ,and this committee made a report last evening, which exonerated the union man from all charges, and an apology was extended to the gentleman.

EAST END

CRIES OF MURDER HEARD

Not for many weeks was there so much excitement in the East End district as was heard on Virginia avenue, at a late hour last evening. Cries of "murder and police" aroused the neighborhood at a late hour, but the East End authorities refuse to confirm the report or admit that they made an investigation of the affair. From reports heard of the matter it seems that the mother of two children has been in the habit of coming home rather late at night, and when she arrived at her home last evening her husband was watching and waiting, and what he is said to have done was a plenty. Such scenes have been of rather frequent occurrence and all sorts of rumors of family troubles have been circulated.

Just as the trouble was at its height last evening a well known young man residing at Smith's Ferry was walking along the street near this house, and when he heard the cry of murder became so excited that he retraced his steps to Mulberry street where he got a car for his home

Two Preliminary Meetings Held.

The conference was preceded by two meetings. The first of these was a gathering of the Republican steering committee, and the second a dinner given by Senator Burrows in his committee room to the beet sugar senators. The steering committee discussed nothing but the order of business in the senate and decided to recommend that the reciprocity bil! be made the unfinished business after the disposal today of the isthmian canal bill, subject, of course, to the action of last night's conference. This is as far as the committee felt that it could go in indicating its opinion to the conference, but this was accepted as a pronouncement favorable to the proposed legislation.

The Burrows dinner was attended by 17 of the 19 senators who are pledged to opposition to the reciprocity bill. There was no effort to transfer the dinner into a conference, but the senators present gathered in small groups for the discussion of the situation. A poll led to the announcement that one-third of the Republican membership of the senate was present at the dinner, that 11 states were represented, and that they were as firmly united as they ever had in London, but higher rates are look-

Different persons made speeches The discussion continued until the conference adjourned at 10:45, to meet again on the adjournment of the senate on Friday afternoon. No conclusion was reached, but the opinion was expressed, even by those who would vote for a reciprocity bill, that there was little possibility of passing such a measure at this session of Richardson and Shallenberger Attack Republican Actions-Cannon Made Brief Reply.

Washington, June 19.-The near approach of the end of the present session of congress was signalized by a general political speech by Mr. Richardson, of Tennessee, the leader of the minority. He arraigned the Republican party for its failure to keep its platform promises, dwelling especially on the question of

Mr. Shallenberger (Dem., Neb.) also made a political speech, condemning the administration for removing Miss Taylor, a clerk in the war department, for criticising its Adjourned to Meet Friday, Not Philippine policy, and for justifying General Wood's expenditures out of the Cuban fund for the promotion of reciprocity legislation.

Cannon Made a Brief Reply.

Mr. Cannon, chairman of the appropriation committee, in a brief reply to both speeches, said he was ready to go to the country on the record of the Republican party. He caused much merriment on his side This, After Adjournment, Last of the house by describing the Republican party as pulling the wagon while the Democrats stood off and found fault. Mr. Bartlett (Dem. Ga.) offered an amendment to the de ficiency bill to reimburse the Cuban revenues for the salary allowed by Secretary Root to Governor General Wood out of the island reverues. In the course of some remarks early in the session Mr. Cannon declared that if he could have his way congress

It is told of the late P. D. Armour that on one occasion he made a present of a suit of clothes to each of his employees in a certain department. Whence Comes Electricity! At a time when electricity is rapidly transforming the face of the globe, when it has already in great measure annihilated distance and bids fair to make them do all the work under the abolish darkness for us, it is curious to notice how completely ignorant "the their labors, while still others have plain man' remains as the later defallen into such habits of luxury as to velopments of electrical theory. Yet this is not to be wondered at. Even the most instructed physicists can do nothing but guess as to what electricity is, and the only point on which they agree is as to what it is not. There is, in fact, a perfect consensus of opinion among scientific writers that it is not a fluid-i. e., a continuous stream of ponderable matter, as is a liquid or a gas-and that it is not a form of energy, as is heat. Outside this limit the scientific imagination is at liberty to roam where it listeth, and, although it has used this liberty to a considerable extent, no definite result has followed up to the present time .--Academy.

DISPUTE BETWEEN CONTRAC-TORS GREW QUITE WARM.

A Misunderstanding Caused It, But the Trouble Was Soon Over.

A row appeared to be brewing be yesterday. The contention was be this morning to visit Miss Laura tween contractors on Kelly avenue tween Harrison Rinehart and W. P. Shannon. Shannon wanted to lay water pipe on Kelly avenue, which has been excavated for the laying of brick,

Rinehart Bros. have objected to men laying pipes on the streets they are paving, for the reason that in laying brick over the ditches the pavement will sink and make a bad looking job. They give a bond and do not wish to be put to extra expense in repairing work caused by the excavation of other contractors. For that reason they did not allow men to dig up their

People have wanted to put in pipes, the result being that the council at its last meeting agreed to hold contractors doing the ditching responsible for sunken pavements over water pipes which they may lay and not Rinehart Bros.

Rinehart Bros. did not know of this action and stopped Shannon when he proceeded to ditch on Kelly avenue. The mayor, city solicitor, water works superintendent, two policemen, several councilmen and the contractors held a heated discussion, but Shannon was permitted to lay the pipes, an amicable adjustment being made. Prior to the arrival of the police a double row of Italians was lined up for a battle, but there was no bloodshed.

A SERMON TO SUIT. The Folks Who Paid For the Dis-

well remember one Abner-so he was always called in his town. Abner was the wit of the village, and he was commonly selected to take charge of funerals because he was about the only man in town who had time hanging on his hands. A citizen died, man who never amounted to much, who was never positively wicked, because that would have required more of an effort than he was willing to make. He was, however, far enough from being a good citizen, and Abner knew it as well as anybody else.

Abner was requested to ask a certain minister to conduct the service, and he hitched up his old horse and drove to his house. The minister said he would attend and then tried to get a little information concerning the late lament

"What sort of a man was he?" he nsked.

"Well, about the same as no sort of a man at all," replied Abner frankly. "I suppose his loss will be deeply felt in the community?" said the min-

"They're all bearing up well under it," said Abner slowly. "Was he a Christian?" asked the minister.

"If he'd been accused of it, the verdict would have been not guilty and the jury wouldn't have left their seats," replied Abner cheerfully.

"Did he attend church?" asked the minister a bit anxiously. I never heard of his doing it," Abner. "How did he die?" continued the minister. "Just the same as he lived, sort of naturally." said Abner. "I don't see how I'm to preach much of a sermon under such circumstances," said the minister.

"The neighbors all said they didn't think they wanted much of a sermon, and so they sent me over to see you.' said Abner. The minister pocketed his wrath and a five dollar bill, and after the funeral

NUMBER OF PERSONS INJURED.

Policeman, Several Rioters and Re-Shot. Latter Probably Fatally-Others May Have Been Hurt-Number struck With Stones.

Paterson, N. J., June 19 .- This city was in the hands of a mob yesterday and as a result of the riots a number of persons were shot and two at least will die.

The police did their work well, but they were so few in number that they could make little headway against the

Mills were wrecked with stones and bullets by the striking silk dyers' telpers or roughs acting for them. There were threats to resort to the torch, but so far last night the mayor hesitated about asking Governor Murphy for troops.

Indication Riots Were Planned. There seemed to be every indication that the riot was the result of a rearranged plan to involve the would-be peaceful element in the af fair from the start. Among the leaders of the trouble was a man named McQueen and another named Galleano, the former an Englishman and the latter an Italian. Others, agents of anarchist circles, had also been quietly fanning the flames. Yesterday morning Chairman Mc-Crath, who has held the strikers in leash since he first obtained control on the second day of the strike, was on hand and presided. He spoke; so did McQueen and Galleano, and the latter worked his countrymen into a frenzy.

Then McQueen leaped into control of the meeting. He called for a vote on the question of calling for a general strike of all branches of the silk trade. All voted in favor and a committee was appointed to consider means for bringing the silk workers out. Galleano was one of this committee. It gathered amid a babel of tongues and a scene of confusion. Five minutes latter Galleano emerged from th group shouting something in Italian. Instantly a mob had formed about him. Into it rushed the Ital fans and then the other foreigners, and a moment later the mob, led by Galleano, started on its raid.

Bresci's Comrades Among Rioters. Among the rioters were several old comrades of Bresci, who was executed for killing King Humbert, of Italy. Employes were driven from mills in some instances, while in others employers turned them out to avoid trouble. Mills were bombarded with bricks, etc.

One plant raided was a cotton braid factory, the employes being told to quit by their employers.

Several persons and a number of officers were struck with stones. Policeman Robertson was shot through the right arm and he was hit in the head, near one mill. Policeman Post shot a rioter in the neck, near another mill.

At the Hall mill a policeman shot Lora Salvino, 24 years old, an Italian, who lives and works at Hacken sack. He was shot in both lungs. The policeman continued to fire and the mob returned the shots. Finally he was joined by other officers. Firing continued on both sides. Spectators said fully 100 shots were fired. It was believed other rioters were hurt. Details of firemen were cailed upon later and helped the police.

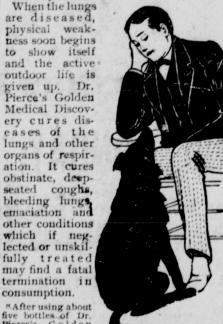

Mob Formed Again. It was not longe before a dense mob had formed again, this time about the Gaede mill, on Straight street, where there was a crowd of 2,000. Half of them were rioters and the rest onlookers. The mill was bombarded and before the mob stopped there was not a whole findow in the building.

Harry Harris, a reported on The Morning Call, was armed with a rewolver and had a camera. His act of training the camera was seen and he was warned to desist. A moment arter a rain of stones fell about him and he was knocked down. As he fell men rushed on him and he was kicked and beaten. He drew his resolver and tried to use it, but it jammed and was kicked from his hands. A man grabbed it and fired chest. He has a slight chance of recovery. By this time the mill was emptied of the operatives and this practically ended the risting for the day, after all of the mills had closed

GAME RESULTED AS ALL EXPECTED

The Clerks Unable to Hold Up Their End With the Newspaper Men.

CLEVER PLAYING

Which Aroused Unlimited Enthusiasm That Was Worth Journeying Miles making less than a four bagger. to See.

It resulted exactly as every man on the press team predicted. The clerks were game and tried hard enough, but fell before the artists of the craft in amazement. They were simply outclassed. Not one of the team can be censured for the humiliating defeat, as every man was at his post and took advantage of all that came his way, but the trouble seemed to lie in the fact that only a few came their waythey all went wide of the marks, especially was this so when Bullock landed one in very close proximity to Peterson's flower beds. The crowa of fans present stood aghast when the ball started on its heavenly tour. They didn't know when it was ever going to drop. The clerks really never did get the lick. They were a little downhearted beforehand, but when Wagner was seen running at his best and then to stop to make a charge similar to a bird dog on a quail, only to stay stopped, for the simple reason that he had gone on the wrong trail, the whole team gave up and Bullock was not the only disheartener for the

There were others who landed without mercy on the sphere. Martindale cracked it out twice for two bases. He could easily have made three bases or home runs of them, but rather than to have the clerks quit he stopped for a rest on second. His sensational catches behind the bat also had a bad effect on the tape holders. Not a ball did he allow to go through his mits. Without a breast protector he stood there and pulled them in. It made not the least difference to him where they were sent. High ones and low ones received the same attention. Martindale is an old timer from Zanesville and he plays the same game that has for years given the Zanesville boys an undisputed record.

Steinfeld, on third for the clerks. was great. He took advantage of every ball that went within three feet of him. He was one of the few men that got a putout on third. Manager Walsh would do well if he would consider the advisability of signing him.

Dawson is said to be a wonder behind the bat, but he forgot to demonstrate the fact. In the future he will do better, he says.

Lewis and Ansley tried upon several occasions to make a grand stand double, but they got mixed on every attempt and finally cut it ought by com ing together on a little foul tip. These boys had been practicing for two weeks before the game, but it seems that they forgot the signs when they entered the diamond.

Fuller may make his mark yet in the base ball world. He jumped after all of them. That is after all of them Godwin And Harker Did Great Work, held at school No. 6, known as the had gone past. No work for several years is given as his excuse for the wild leaps.

The outfield was made up of pretty good material. It was composed of the Homestead-Eclipse base ball game farmer who owns 127 acres, his road Sutton, Huss and Wagner. They are at Rock Springs park yesterday after tax last year was $16.64, while under each excellent runners. This they noon and the decision of the entire proved when pop flies were sent in crowd was that it was the best game their direction. Simms at first for the press aggregation did remarkably well at every opportunity. In catching foul balls he has few equals and no betters. The way in which he slapped the high ones was the cause of much encoring.

Smith showed his early training on the diamond by several marvelous plays. At one time he saw the ball coming directly at him and to avoid opposing its terrible speed he jumped into the air and with a wild whoop Among the Fans-An Exhibition did great work, never thinking of

When it comes to running Harris has them all bested. Over the field like a greyhound he sped and succeeded in pouncing on two extremely hard ones. His speed helpeu him wonderfully in gaining bases also. By this achievement he scored a run when it would not have been possi ble for any other man on the team to make more than second base.

McBane and Fauikner didn't have many chances in the field, but they certainly accepted all that came their way. Faulkner has a good eye and never makes a misjudgment. McBane has played many times before East Liverpool fans, and his good record is well known.

Just why the clerks could not be come accustomed to the curves thrown by Such is not known. The general supposition is that he learned the trick when a resident of Harrisburg, Pa. Ráttlesnakes were at his command in profusion. The clerks simply stood and watched them circle past. Two hits and two runs also were credited to him, and in fact he was the Homestead0 0 0 0 1 3 0 0 *-4 whole push.

CORONATION

London, June 19 .- It was officially ennounced yesterday that in view of the strain of the approaching coronation King Edward's physicians have recommended that his majesty forego all public engagements for the next few days.

London, June 19.-After being almost hermetically closed to the public and press for two months, Westminster abbey in its coronation dress was described in yesterday's London Times, commencing with the 'artificial annex, which, externally, blends se perfectly in color and architecture with the cld structure as to deceive the experienced eye. The correspondents say the abbey inside has the appearance of a vast hall, with a timbered roof supported on square pillars and carved arches.

Procession to Form There.

Here the procession will be formed up. On the walls are costly tapestries and a magnificent collection of eld armor and lances from the Tower. The stands in the abbey itself, the erection of which caused some disapproval, are so placed that the architectural beauty of the ancient building is by no means marred. They are draped with a mixture of delicate blue and old gold velvet. On either side, near the west end, are priceless tapestries, lent by the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, and a thick, dark blue carpet has been laid down. It was specially manufactured for the occasion and is ornamented with the Star and Garter, the Rose, Thistle and Shamrock, and the Egyptian Letus wreathed in laurel. The transepts are filled with seats to the south for the peeresses and to the north with seats for peers. Above them are two great galleries for the members of the house of commons and their wives. The peeresses' chairs are of the Chippendale pattern and are ample enough to make the most portly duchess comfortable. All the chairs are engraved with the crown and the date of the corona-

In the great central space, known as the Thursday-Mattie Sinclair vs. War- theater, where the crowning will actually occur, there has been laid over George E. Medsger; Eli Flickinger vs. the dais a famous oriental carpet, made in 1540. For the rehearsals an ordinary carpet and two draped arm chairs have sufficed. Throughout there is evidence of good taste and the arrangements have approached such a stage of completion that there is no doubt that everything will be perfectly ready today week.
